SCLA CELEBRATES THE BICENTENNIAL

The forty-ninth annual conference of the South Carolina Library Association will be held October 9-11, 1975, at the Francis Marion Hotel in Charleston. In keeping with the Bicentennial observance and the occasion of meeting in such a historical city, the convention theme this year will be "South Carolina Libraries: A Three Hundred Year Heritage."

Speakers at the general session meetings to be held at various times throughout the convention include Mrs. Allie Beth Martin, President of the American Library Association and Director of the Tulsa, City-County Library System (fifth session), and the Honorable Samuel Phillips Manning, South Carolina Representative from Spartanburg, who will speak on the "Influence of South Carolina Libraries on the Building of the State" (fourth session). Dr. J. Isaac Copeland, Director, Southern Historical Collection, UNC, will address the third general session meeting on "Libraries and the Bicentennial: My Personal View." The second general session speaker will be Dr. Walter Douglas Smith, President, Francis Marion College, on "There Was a Time...." Several South Carolina librarians will engage in a panel discussion of the "SELA Survey; application for improvement of South Carolina library service" during the first session.

The various individual sections of SCLA are also sponsoring speakers during their respective programs. These are-- Public Library and Trustee Section: Edwin S. Clay III, Assistant to the City Manager/Public Information, Virginia Beach, Virginia, on "Motherhood, Apple Pie, the Flag-and Public Libraries"; College Library Section: Dr. Walter B. Edgar, Assistant Professor of History, University of South Carolina, on "Reading Tastes in Eighteenth Century Carolina"; School Library Section: Dr. Duane Johnson, Graduate School of Librarianship, University of South Carolina, on "Some Possible New Directions of South Carolina School Libraries"; and Special Library Section: Mr. John Henry Dick, artist, author, naturalist, on "Collecting Rare Eighteenth and Nineteenth Century Bird Books." The Junior Members Round Table will sponsor a luncheon meeting featuring Katherine Boling, author of A Piece of the Fox's Hide, on "Behind a Piece of the Fox's Hide."

Registration for the convention begins on October 9 at 9:30 a.m. with the first general session meeting scheduled for 2:00 p.m. that afternoon. The convention is scheduled to adjourn on Saturday at 11:00 a.m.

BY-LAWS CHANGES

The following proposed amendments to the By-Laws of the South Carolina Library Association will be introduced and submitted for a vote by membership during the Association's 49th annual convention at Charleston, October 9-11. The proposed amendments contained below were drafted by the Constitution and By-Laws Committee and submitted to the Executive Committee of SCLA.

The amendments read as follows:

"A Grievance Committee be added to the list of standing committees of the South Carolina Library Association." (By-Laws, Article IV)

"The President shall be a professional librarian who is actively engaged in the profession at the time of election." (By-Laws, Article I, Section 2)

SOUTH CAROLINA STATE LIBRARY JOINS SOLINET

The South Carolina State Library began operations with SOLINET (Southeastern Library Network) in July. The library will utilize the computerized bibliographic network in its ordering, cataloging, processing, and interlibrary loan procedures. The computer library network program as represented in SOLINET was a project conceived, initiated, and developed by the Association of Southeastern Research Libraries.

Other South Carolina libraries which are participating in the SOLINET program include: University of South Carolina, Clemson University, College of Charleston, Winthrop College, and the South Carolina State College.

The Little Library of Walterboro was featured in an article appearing in the August, 1975 issue of Sandlapper magazine (pages 20-21). The Little Library, now used as headquarters for the Colleton County Historical Society, is a one-room building originally built around 1820 for the Walterboro Library Society. The building had served off and on as a library through World War II.

Laurens County Library Leader Refires.

Recently Mrs. J. B. Hart retired from the Board of Trustees of the Laurens County Library after serving as chairman since 1957.

During her many years of dedicated service, Mrs. Hart contributed greatly to the successful development and growth of the public library system in Laurens County. She was instrumental in getting the Children's and Young People's Branch established in Clinton during the 1960's. Later, realizing the need for a full-service library in Clinton, Mrs. Hart directed her time and talent toward that goal. Her dreams were fulfilled in July 1974 with the opening of the new Clinton branch building.

In the early 1960's, Mrs. Hart's leadership helped pass a bond issue to provide for expanding and modernizing the main library building in Laurens.

One of her most recent contributions was the establishment of the Joanna Memorial Branch Library. She worked closely with Mrs. Harriett Huff, then librarian of the Laurens County Library, on the opening of the Joanna branch in the vacant Joanna Memorial Hospital building in October, 1974.

A native of Belton and a Winthrop College graduate, Mrs. Hart has lived in the Clinton-Joanna area most of her adult life and has served her community tirelessly. She is a former school teacher and an active member of the Episcopal Church.

"Public library patrons in Laurens County owe a deep debt of gratitude to Mrs. Hart, for she has been personally responsible for much of the service they now enjoy", said Estellene P. Walker, State Librarian. "We thank her for all that she has done."

AMERICAN ISSUES FORUM TO BE LAUNCHED IN SEPTEMBER

The official start of the American Issues Forum is slated for September, 1975. In preparation for this program, South Carolina public librarians attended a workshop on the Forum sponsored by the South Carolina State Library on August 20 in Columbia. The workshop was designed to aid librarians in forming their own programs in conjunction with the Forum at the local level. Participants viewed "A Documentary on the American Issues Forum," a film introducing the Forum concept which was presented by Robert Befort, Program Specialist, American Issues Forum, National Endowment for the Humanities. Public librarians also listened to Virginia Mathews of Gaylord Brothers who has developed a program package based on Forum topics for use by libraries in planning and conducting their community programs.

The American Issues Forum is a nationwide Bicentennial program aimed at encouraging Americans to examine and discuss certain basic principles and ideas which have shaped American life and society. The Forum is organized as a nine-month program which will focus on a certain topic each month.

The South Carolina State Library has purchased the Gaylord Bicentennial Special Program Package for the American Issues Forum. The package contains a sound filmstrip on the American Issues Forum, a section containing guidelines for developing AIF programs, and reading selections tied to each of the nine topics which will be highlighted on a month-to-month basis. Interested librarians should contact Libby Law, Field Service Librarian, South Carolina State Library, about obtaining the sound filmstrip or photocopy of the guidelines and any of the reading material.

A week following the Forum workshop, the South Carolina State Library was notified that it will receive a $5,000 grant from the South Carolina American Revolution Bicentennial Commission. The grant will be used to purchase 10 of the Gaylord Bicentennial Special Program Packages described above which will consequently be placed in major public libraries in the state.

SCSL REPRESENTATIVES TO ATTEND MEETING ON LSCA

Miss Betty Callaham, Deputy Librarian, and Mrs. Betty Onley, Business Manager, South Carolina State Library, will attend an in-service training session sponsored by the U.S. Office of Education in Atlanta on September 17 and 18. Participants at the session will be briefed on federal regulations governing LSCA and budgeting and reporting procedures which will be used.

SOUTH CAROLINA LIBRARIANS TO MEET ON SURVEY IMPLEMENTATION

Estellene P. Walker, Librarian, and Betty Callaham, Deputy Librarian, South Carolina State Library, will attend a meeting sponsored by the Southeastern Library Association at Georgia Tech on September 19. The purpose of the meeting is to plan implementation of the Southeastern States Cooperative Library Survey report which was recently issued. Members of the SELA Advisory Committee on the Survey as well as the nine states' advisory committees will be in attendance at this meeting.

Miss Walker is Chairman of the SELA Advisory Committee; Miss Callaham is the Chairman of the South Carolina Advisory Committee.

REPORT FROM S.C. STATE LIBRARY DIVISION
FOR THE BLIND AND PHYSICALLY HANDICAPPED

On August 26, the services offered by the South Carolina State Library Division for the Blind and Physically Handicapped were reported and surveyed on SC-ETV's program, "8:30--Newsroom."

During the week of July 11-14, Donald Weber, Head of the Network Services Section, Library of Congress Division for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, made a consultative visit to the South Carolina Regional Library. Mr. Weber is responsible for coordination between the Library of Congress and the regional libraries located in the southern states.

Jim Johnson, Librarian of the South Carolina State Library Division for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, reports that the first issue of the Division's newsletter was mailed out in July. If any county headquarters library failed to receive a copy of the newsletter, please request a copy from Mr. Johnson.

OVERRIDE ATTEMPTS SLATED FOR SEPTEMBER

The U.S. House of Representatives will attempt to override President Ford's veto of the 1976 Education Appropriations Bill upon its return from the summer recess on September 9.

On July 25, the President had vetoed the $7.9 billion appropriations bill which was $1.5 billion over the administration's budget request. In July, House-Senate conferees had agreed to $49,155,000 for LSCA Title I, Library Services, and $2,594,000 for Title III, Interlibrary Cooperation. In contrast, the administration's budget includes only $10 million for Title I and no funding whatsoever for Title III. Under the present plan, South Carolina will be receiving $189,000 in Title I funds rather than almost $700,000.

Until the 1976 Education Appropriations are enacted into law, all funding for library programs above the executive budget level is being deferred.

DEDICATION SERVICE FOR SALUDA COUNTY LIBRARY'S NEW LOCATION

The Saluda County Library, a member of the Newberry-Saluda Regional Library system, will hold dedication services for its new headquarters facility in Saluda at 3:00 o'clock p.m. on Sunday afternoon, October 5. The public is cordially invited to attend.

The new library is located directly south of the Saluda courthouse and was formerly the county jail. The library moved into its new quarters in August and occupies the first floor of the remodeled building. The transformation of the jail into a library was accomplished under the direction of John Allan Long, Architect, and the Saluda County Board of Commissioners and the Saluda County Library Board. The result of their joint efforts is a truly handsome building.

REVISED STANDARDS FOR SOUTH CAROLINA PUBLIC LIBRARIES

The Public Library Section of the South Carolina Library Association has recently mailed out to members copies of a proposed revision of "Standards for South Carolina Public Libraries." The standards, originally adopted in 1964 and revised in 1969, have been revised for a second time by the Standards Committee of the Public Library Section. Members are requested to review the proposed changes to the standards in preparation for the October meeting of the Public Library Section at the SCLA Convention during which time the standards will be presented for adoption. Any member of the Public Library Section who has not yet received a copy of the proposed revisions may contact Gerda Belknap, Richland County Public Library, 1400 Sumter Street, Columbia, South Carolina 29201, for a copy.

The Standards Committee describes major changes to the standards as the following: addition of previously adopted periodical standards, salary scale revisions, and minor editorial changes.

The Standards Committee has also recommended to the Executive Board of SCLA the establishment of a Grievance Committee which would be included among the standing committees of the Association. The committee is intended to provide librarians in the state with a channel of inquiry and avenue of appeal in the event that fair policies and practices are questioned. The Executive Board has agreed to bring this proposal before the entire membership during the SCLA Convention, and the necessary by-laws changes will be introduced for a vote at that time.

PICKENS LIBRARY BRANCH DEDICATED

The Village Library Branch of the Pickens County Library was officially dedicated on August 22. Former Lieutenant Governor Earle E. Morris, Jr., delivered the dedicatory address to an audience which included several local governmental and library officials.

The library which has been under construction for five years represents a combination of efforts by many volunteers from the Pickens County area. The building, currently valued at over $160,000, was built and furnished at an approximate cost of $70,000 with additional donations derived from business and civic groups.

HORRY COUNTY LIBRARY PROVIDES VOTERS WITH INFORMATION ON HOME RULE ISSUE

The Horry County Library prepared and distributed information packets containing materials on South Carolina's new Home Rule law in all of its branches. The packets were organized in response to an up-coming vote on the Home Rule issue which was held in Horry County on August 26. The packets, containing a copy of the proposed Home Rule bill, a sample ballot, explanation of voter's choices, and newspaper clippings, were made available for in-library use and study.

Libraries situated in counties where the Home Rule issue will be up-coming may wish to provide a similar information package. Copies of the Home Rule law may be obtained on request to Mary Toll, Documents Librarian, South Carolina State Library.

LIBRARY REPORT STRESSES SAVINGS

The latest annual report of the Pickens County Library emphasizes the savings that the library achieved for the residents of Pickens County during the year. In outlining the services which the library provided, the library assigned an estimated cost value for each of these services and materials as if library patrons had to purchase these for themselves. Stressing the idea that the library is a "money savings institution," the library calculated that the residents of Pickens County received approximately $975,000 in services for their original investment of $91,500.

PUPPET PROGRAM BEING CONDUCTED AT LIBRARY

The Children's Room of the Greenville County Library is currently involved in developing a puppetry program both for children and adults.

The puppet program was launched on August 7 with a presentation of a new puppet show, "There Once Was a Witch," to 220 children. Following the show, a short film on puppet-making was shown to the audience. During this time, the library reports 20 adults signed up for a puppet workshop.

The program, sponsored by the Children's Room, was produced and performed by Douglas Ward, Director of the Fiddlers' Folley Puppet Theatre in England. Mr. Ward is the artist-in-residence in Greenville County and is currently working with the library and a consortium of other Greenville agencies.

The library plans further puppet programs using Mr. Ward's expertise. Some of these plans include: training sessions for library staff and volunteers in staging puppet shows and conducting children's workshops, workshops to instruct children in producing their own puppet shows, and full workshops designed to instruct library staff members and other staff members of Greenville public agencies in use of puppetry with exceptional children, etc.

LEXINGTON COUNTY LIBRARY FEATURES MAGIC, PETS, AND CRAFTS

During July, the Lexington County Library sponsored a number of special programs for its library patrons. Inspired by Ezra Jack Keat's Pet Show, the headquarters library and three branch libraries put on their own pet shows. The libraries reported that the gold fish, frogs, and turtles kept the four-legged population down and that only one minor accident occurred.

The Batesburg headquarters library was also the scene of two programs during July. Children were entertained by James D. Crook, "The Amazing Mr. D" in a display of his magical talents on the 11th. Children and adults were welcomed to a Crafts Fair at the headquarters library on the 18th. Continuous showings of craft films as well as demonstrations in quilting, pottery, chair caning, etc., were offered to library patrons.

GROUNDBREAKING CEREMONIES HELD FOR NEW TEC COMPLEX

Groundbreaking ceremonies for a $2,000,000 Manpower Training Complex at Chesterfield-Marlboro Technical College were held on August 13. The building project includes a new college library and learning laboratory, as well as classroom, office, and laboratory spaces. The three buildings which will comprise the new complex are scheduled for completion at the end of 1975.

COLLEGE LIBRARY STANDARDS REVISED

The 1975 revision of Standards for College Libraries was approved by the Board of Directors of the Association of College and Research Libraries on July 3. The Board also rescinded the earlier 1959 standards. The standards are applicable to libraries serving academic programs at the bachelors and masters degree levels and may also be applied to libraries serving universities granting fewer than ten doctoral degrees a year. The standards, organized by functions and organizational components, are provided for library objectives, collection size, staff size and qualifications, service delivery, budget, facilities, etc.

Copies of the new standards are available upon request from the Association of College and Research Libraries, ALA, 50 East Huron Street, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

SOUTHERN BOOKS COMPETITION

The Southeastern Library Association has launched its twenty-fourth annual Southern Books Competition. Trade publishers, university presses, and private presses located in the south are invited to submit the best books which they published during 1975 to vie for these awards for book making excellence. Entry blanks and further information concerning the competition can be obtained from Frank J. Anderson, Librarian, Sandor Teszler Library, Wofford College, Spartanburg, South Carolina 29301. Telephone: 803-585-4821, extension 396.

3M GRANTS FOR ALA - JMRT MEMBERS

The 3M Company is sponsoring professional development grants totalling $5,000 for members of ALA Junior Members Round Table. The grants will be used to pay transportation, food, lodging and related expenses for several JMRT members to the next ALA annual conference to be held in Chicago, July 18-24, 1976. Applications are available from 3M/JMRT Professional Grant Committee, Ochopee Regional Library, 606 Jackson Street, Vidalia, Georgia 30474. Applications must be postmarked no later than December 15.

CATALOG INSTITUTE

Several divisions of ALA--Information Science and Automation Division, Reference and Adult Services Division, and the Resources and Technical Services Division--are sponsoring an institute "The Catalog: Its Nature and Prospects" in New York City, October 9-10, 1975 at the New York Sheraton Hotel. Topics discussed will concern the nature of library catalog and its prospects for the future. A registration fee of $75 for ALA members, $90 for non-members, $10 for students should be mailed by October 1 to Donald P. Hammer, ISAD, ALA, 50 East Huron Street, Chicago, Illinois 60611.
